El Paso Animal Services Presents the First Annual Wag-O-Ween Pet Carnival

Adoptions, Microchips, Vaccines, & More

EL PASO, Texas – The City of El Paso Animal Services will host the first annual Wag-O-Ween Pet Carnival from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday, October 14, at the Tails at the Times Adoption Center, 501 E Mills Ave.

This eagerly anticipated event promises a day filled with family- and pet-friendly fun, all with a meaningful purpose.

Attendees will have the unique opportunity to not only open their hearts to adopting cats and dogs from El Paso Animal Services but can also take advantage of a range of essential services aimed at ensuring the safety and well-being of their beloved pets. From noon to 3 p.m., free microchipping services will be offered and local clinic, Eastlake Animal Care Center, will also be on-site, providing pet vaccines and preventatives to further enhance the care and health of our four-legged companions.

In addition to these vital services, participants can look forward to a lively assortment of local vendors, food trucks, carnival games, photo-booth, pet costume contests and a diverse range of both pet and kid-friendly activities.

Adding to the excitement, the El Paso Fire Department will make a special appearance with a fire truck, giving families an opportunity to take photos on the truck and with firefighters.

The City of El Paso Animal Services extends a warm invitation to all community members to partake in this free event of memorable experiences and a chance to contribute to a pet-friendly community.
